NAVAL TREATY TO BIND ALL NATIONS

Pact Embracing Principles of Washington Agreement Studied by League

Geneva, Sept. 21.—The elaboration of a Treaty under which the principles of the Washington Conference of naval armaments would be accepted by the countries which did not sign that agreement will be studied by the League of Nations.

Naval experts will be asked to collaborate in the investigation with a view to insuring the framing of a convention acceptable to all nations whether or not they are members of the League.

Assembly Reconvenes

Geneva, Sept. 21.—Switzerland carried a voice of conciliation into the Assembly of the League of Nations which reconvened to-day after almost a week's rest, when ex-President Motta congratulated both the Council of the Greco-Italian crisis. He declared the Council had followed the spirit of the League Covenant and he expressed the ardent hope that now the Council had decided to permit the jurists to interpret the article of the Covenant, the Assembly would accept that wise decision and not press for debate on the issues involved by Italy's attitude toward the document on which the League is founded. Motta declared that in his judgment the League had accomplished great things but that it could not achieve all that was hoped for until the time arrived when the League had become universal.

Further evidence that the Italian incident had ceased to be a dangerous issue for the Assembly was forthcoming when J. J. Loucheur, of Holland, and Dr. Nansen, of Norway, who had been leaders of the movement to insist upon quick action on Italy's challenge to the Covenant, approved the Council's decision to hold a judicial inquiry into the meaning of the Covenant.

Viscount Ithell, President of the Council, explained that the Council had not yet decided whether the general interpretation of the Covenant should be left to selected jurists or turned over to The Hague Tribunal.

During his address commenting on the general work of the Council Dr. Nansen declared everything that the power of the League for good was increasing daily but he regretted it had been unable to help in the administration of the reparation problem. He realized that difficulties were in the way, but declared with emphasis that the countries to the north and east of all the smaller countries of Europe were suffering terribly because the reparation question had not been solved.

In the name of the small states "whose only tribute is the League," Dr. Nansen wished to implore the interested Governments to hasten their negotiations, as otherwise Europe would fall into chaos and the whole of European civilization be imperilled. This appeal was greeted with applause from the Assembly.

QUEBEC WELCOMES BYING OF VIMY

Consolidation of Dominion Begun in France, Governor-General Says

Quebec, Sept. 21.—"If I have done anything to help build up this Dominion into one consolidated whole I shall be home happy," exclaimed Governor-General Byng, in reply to the address of welcome extended to him by Erenson and Taschereau at a dinner in honor of His Excellency last night.

The guests included representatives of the Church and State and the dinner brought together a brilliant gathering of the most distinguished public men of the province of Quebec. Lord Byng was applauded to the echo when he rose to reply to Premier Taschereau's speech of welcome. In his opening remarks he spoke briefly in French.

"My own subject, my favorite subject, is Canada. It is the only subject I can think of, the only subject I can put into words."

Two great nations stood side by side in this country. Last year was one that might well be remembered, he said, in spite of differences France and England were now greater friends than ever.

Every Canadian had reason to be proud to see how the people of Canada had stood united in thought and deed through a crisis which one hundred years ago might have proved disastrous. He was proud of the Canadians he had commanded in France. These men were the finest soldiers any man had ever commanded. They had come from all the nine provinces of Canada.

His Excellency referred to the afternoon of April 17, 1917, when Canadian soldiers had stood on the summit of Vimy Ridge. That victory had stood for the consolidation of Canada.

"Gentlemen," he said, "that consolidation was made in France. Will you think of one great consolidation of the Dominion with the same ideals, the same viewpoints and the same determination?"

Mount Bruno, Sept. 21.—Miss Gienna Collett, Providence, R.I., eliminated Miss Alexia Stirling, Aurora, in the semi-finals of the Canadian women's open golf championship this afternoon by 3 and 2.

SAD TRAGEDY IS RUM-RUNNERS' END

Were Found Drowned When Tide Receded Had Been Moving "Wet" Cargo

Seattle, Sept. 21.—Ludwig Holman and Andrew Johansen, whose bodies were found yesterday in Dumas Cove, on Puget Sound, between Seattle and Tacoma, were drowned Tuesday night while trying to get ashore with a skiffload of liquor brought from Victoria, B.C., the coroner and sheriff announced last night.

The officials reached this conclusion after hearing the story of A. M. Holman, brother of Ludwig. A. M. Holman said that he and another man were helping the two to get a cargo of liquor ashore from the speedboat Margaret M., that his brother and Johansen were lumpy, and that while he was on shore and the two were gone back for the second half of the cargo a splash and a scream were heard.

Bodies Found

At dawn, when the tide had gone out, related Holman, he and his companion saw the two dead men and the whisky lying in the mud.

"We didn't know what to do at first," he said, "but finally decided on saving the bodies. We loaded the whisky into our car and sped away."

A. M. Holman appeared to-day after news of the finding of the bodies had been published, and promised to give his brother and Johansen a decent funeral. He said that the two dead men had been engaged for three years in rum-running.

CITY SEEKS WIDER LICENSING POWERS

Newspapers, Railways and Banks May Have to Pay More

What the city requires in the way of enabling and amending legislation was discussed this morning in an extended meeting of the legislative committee, with Alderman Sargent in the chair. Aldermen Todd, Leeming, Dewar and Woodward attended, and City Solicitor H. S. Pringle. In addition to a mass of routine amendments sought to speed up city business in its several departments, the committee made several important policy recommendations.

If the council should back up its committee, it will ask the Provincial Government for legislation giving it wide powers of licensing extension this Fall. Newspapers, railways and perhaps banks will come in for discussion under the new head.

The committee withheld recommendation of the monthly tax payment plan and passed all matters relative to that measure to the council without comment.

The committee approved of legislation which would give its members as directors to purchase and operate tourists and motor camps.

Every Canadian has reason to be proud to see how the people of Canada had stood united in thought and deed through a crisis which one hundred years ago might have proved disastrous. He was proud of the Canadians he had commanded in France. These men were the finest soldiers any man had ever commanded. They had come from all the nine provinces of Canada.

His Excellency referred to the afternoon of April 17, 1917, when Canadian soldiers had stood on the summit of Vimy Ridge. That victory had stood for the consolidation of Canada.

PREMIER LEAVES FOR CONFERENCE

Problems for Discussion

Apart from extension of Imperial tariff preferences — which Australia proposes to raise — the suggestions include:

1. Empire-wide movement in favor of Empire products.
2. Creation of an Empire economic council to give consideration to problems of trade development after the conference has concluded its labors.
3. Employment of Empire surplus wealth within the Empire. (Higher income tax on investments outside the Empire, with taxation concessions on capital employed in development work within the Empire, are mooted under this head.)
4. Extension of credits.
5. Institution of Empire currency bills as a means of combating fluctuations in exchange.
6. Development of natural resources and co-ordinated action for the improvement of technical research.
7. Organization of economic intelligence and unification of the law and practices in matters affecting trade.
8. Development of inter-Empire shipping and communications.

Britain's Trade

In the development of trade Great Britain herself will be vitally interested. Her roll of unemployed is her most pressing problem. To meet it she has been driven to great expenditures and appropriations in unemployment insurance; in loans to local authorities; in guarantees under the Trade Facilities Act; in the extension of credits under the export credits scheme, and in the encouragement of migration to the Dominions.

Empire Settlement

The last-named — that of Empire settlement — Great Britain intends to press before the conference. According to advice she feels that the Dominion should embark on a bolder scheme.

On questions to be discussed Premier King is reserving announcements of his policy for the conference itself. On constitutional relations he will, however, it is understood, follow the broad lines of the policy of Sir Wilfrid Laurier in advocating autonomy and the supremacy of the Canadian Parliament over Canadian issues.

At the same time it is expected he will press for improvement in present methods of communication and communicating information as between the governments of Great Britain and the Overseas Dominions.

Premier Bruce, of Australia, according to reports, intends to urge the adoption of some definite and concrete scheme of Empire defence, and, further, wider tariff preferences for Dominion goods in the markets of Great Britain. The latter Premier Bruce is apparently advocating as a corollary to the encouragement of migration from Britain to Australia.

On these questions, again, Premier King is reserving announcements of his attitude. But it is likely that, in view of present financial conditions, he will oppose any new defence scheme involving additional taxation in Canada.

Should Premier Bruce press extension of British preference along the lines indicated, Premier King will hold that extension of British preference by Great Britain is entirely a question for the Parliament at Westminster. Moreover, it is understood, he would, on two grounds, be opposed to making encouragement of British immigration conditional on the extension of British preference — first, because British immigration is needed for the development of Canada, and, secondly, because conditions "introduce the element of bargaining and, as such, are likely to prejudice good relations within the Empire."

JEWISH FAITH HELD SERVICES

Victoria Colony Observed Day of Atonement in Usual Rites

The Jewish colony in Victoria yesterday commemorated the Day of Atonement by observances which were shared by their brethren throughout the world.

"The central ideas of the greatest of our holy days are the individual responsibility of each soul and the responsibility of reconciliation with God through sincere repentance on the part of him who has transgressed the law of righteousness," says David Phipson in the last issue of the American Israelite. "That there was a change and growth in the meaning of responsibility and atonement in Israel even in Biblical times there can be no doubt. The priesthood with its accompanying sacrificial system obscured for the people the idea of individual atonement by the betterment of the life. The ceremony described in the sixteenth chapter of Leviticus is undoubtedly a true reflection of the ancient belief that sin could be removed through the agency of a scapegoat that took upon its head the wrong-doing of men and was an acceptable offering to the Deity. The officiating priest it was who made the atonement 'for himself, for his house and for the whole congregation of Israel.' This is the crude thought of the function of the priesthood among all peoples. But although Israel was like other peoples in having a priesthood it was distinguished among the nations by a band of religious teachers peculiar to itself, viz. the prophets. The prophets were in frequent conflict with the recognized and popular religious beliefs and institutions of their day, among others with the priesthood. If the prophets stood for anything, it was for the immediate relation of the individual to his God."

"This prophetic thought waxed stronger and stronger and notably after the disappearance from among the people of the officiating priesthood and the sacrificial system. Whatever possibility there may have of the mediating power of the priest and the sacrifice during the days when these were visible symbols in the institutional life of Israel's religion, this possibility became an improbability when the pomp of the priesthood and the sacrificial ritual passed away for all time with the destruction of the Temple of Jerusalem. After that the influence of the great teachings of prophetic thought grew, as a matter of course, more and more pronounced. The priesthood and the sacrifices became only a reminiscence. They were steps in the religious development of Israel. Although it is true that the ancient service wherein the high priest and his act of atonement for the people were the central figures was mentioned in the later ritual of the Day of Atonement, yet was this only as a memory of former times. The idea of atonement through sacrifice or scapegoat was outgrown. The exalted thought of individual responsibility and individual atonement had become dominant."

THE POWER OF THE CITY TO ENFORCE

the power of the city to enforce, lasted for a considerable time. The Alderman Woodhead fought a long battle for the adoption of the report in this particular, but lost out. The present system was as it could be devised, decided the majority. Dr. Adam Shortt had recommended the monthly payment plan, which he said was on a par with electric light and water accounts. The work would involve a cost of five per cent on the total of the city's debt. The committee was told by members of the city hall staff. The item was passed to the council without recommendation, and in administration, it was intimated. Getting down to the routine end of their agenda, the committee considered the matter brought forward by Mr. Pringle, who saved them for every department throughout the year.

The power would be obtained by-law to define areas for parking purposes for rented vehicles. Application will be made to authorize a number of changes in the Victoria City Act of 1921 and 1922 clearing up points which have arisen in connection with the Better Housing agreements, tax sale lands, apportionments of tax arrears, and segregation of appeals by districts in the Court of Revision.

CONFERENCES ON OPIUM TRAFFIC

Plans Formulated by League of Nations at Geneva

Geneva, Sept. 21.—Plans for two conferences on the opium question were definitely formulated yesterday. Resolutions were adopted by the League of Nations' opium commission, providing for, first, a conference of the countries having Far Eastern possessions where opium smoking prevails, and second, an International Conference of all the countries to determine upon a plan to limit the production of opium and restrict the manufacture of their derivative drugs for scientific and medicinal purposes.

The American and French delegations have been working closely together in an endeavor to construct as strong a campaign as possible against the opium evil in all its forms.

A delicate question arose over the fixing of a conference for limiting opium smoking. In India there is considerable eating of opium, and in order to suppress all forms of opium used in the Far East the French representative proposed that the first conference should consider a means of limiting the use of prepared opium, which might include both uses of the drug. This suggestion was not accepted, but presumably all forms of opium consumption will be discussed at the second general conference.

Representative Stephen G. Porter, of the American Consulate, presented a reservation that the representatives of the United States desired to place on record, that the term "opium for smoking" appearing in the resolution does not occur in Chapter II of the Hague opium convention, which refers only to prepared opium, and that the use of the term "opium for smoking" is not to be construed as an interpretation of the Convention.

Conference No. 2 will be convened at the earliest possible date after the first conference, and the League Commission voted to urge the Assembly to invite to it all countries, members of the League or parties to The Hague convention. This would bring in the United States.

The resolution also puts on the agenda of the first conference the study of measures which should be taken by China to end the illegal production and use of opium, which are said to be attaining great proportions.

It is stated that the elaboration of a treaty under which the principles of the Washington Convention for the reduction of naval armaments would be accepted by countries which did not sign that agreement, would be studied by the League.

This was decided upon by the League Council. Naval experts will be asked to collaborate in the investigation with a view to insuring the framing of a convention acceptable to all nations.

PLAN TO HONOR CENTENARY OF PARKMAN'S BIRTH

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 21.—Arrangements are being made by a committee of representative Canadians, headed by Sir Arthur Currie, principal of McGill University, to honor the centenary of Francis Parkman's birth, which fell on September 16. The event will be celebrated at Montreal on November 12.

Francis Parkman, the great historian of New France, was an American by birth. Despite ill-health he worked with unflagging energy to bring his history of Canada to a successful conclusion, and he had the satisfaction of seeing his efforts crowned with success.

The committee which has charge of arrangements for the celebration of the Parkman centenary includes many Canadian celebrities. Serving upon it are: The Prime Minister, the Leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons, premiers of all Canadian provinces, representatives of all Canadian universities and learned societies, the Dominion and Provincial archivists, members of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada and the Historic Monuments Commission of Quebec as well as prominent men in the business life of the country, as Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Sir William Price of Quebec, Sir Lomer Gouin, Senator McEwen, R. W. Burpee, and Sir Edmund Walker. L. N. Burpee, President of the Canadian Historical Association is secretary of the committee.

The committee has arranged to have a meeting which will be public in Montreal on November 13, at which the speakers will be His Excellency J. J. Jusserand, French Ambassador to the United States, Prof. Bliss Perry of Harvard University, former editor of The Atlantic Monthly, and Dr. W. C. Coleby, formerly professor of History at McGill University.

Plans for a permanent Canadian memorial to Francis Parkman are also under consideration by the committee.

DISPATCHER ARRESTED

North Bay, Ont., Sept. 21.—On a warrant issued on instructions from the Attorney-General at Toronto, provincial officers have arrested J. H. He is being held jointly with Joseph Gillies, former relieving operator at Englehart, for the wreck in which three men lost their lives at Dane. He was released immediately on $1,000 bail.

BULLET-PROOF VESTS

Toronto, Sept. 21.—The Board of Police Commissioners authorized the purchase by Chief Dickson of five bullet-proof vests for emergency use by the Toronto police. They are expected to stop a bullet from a .38 calibre revolver within six feet.

LEAVES BENCH AFTER SUCCESSFUL CAREER

Hon. Louis Brodeur Retires on Account of Ill-Health

Ottawa, Sept. 21.—Hon. Louis Philippe Brodeur stated last night that he had handed in his resignation as Judge of the Supreme Court of Canada on account of ill-health.

Asked as to the rumor that he would succeed Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, whose five-year term as Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec expires on October 21, Mr. Justice Brodeur replied:

"There is nothing in that."

Mr. Justice Brodeur was appointed to the Supreme Court Bench in August, 1911. He was during four successive Parliaments, dating from 1891, member in the House of Commons for Rouville, and, under the Premiership of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, held the portfolios respectively of Inland Revenue and Marine and Fisheries. In 1907 he was one of the Canadian delegates to the Imperial Conference at London, and, with Hon. W. S. Fielding, he negotiated the first Franco-Canadian commercial treaty.

TRANSPORTATION IN STATES LIVE ISSUE BEFORE NEXT HOUSE

Washington, Sept. 21 (By Canadian Press).—Although there has been a good deal of a lull in Washington recently in the discussion of railroad matters, due to the death of President Harding, and the fact a new administration is just getting under way, there is no doubt the transportation problem will be a live issue when Congress assembles.

Senator Capper, of Kansas, head of the farm bloc in the Senate, has this clear in a long statement in which he assails features of the present transportation act. He declares the transportation act cannot stand and the country will not submit to it. The freight rates which are now being charged in the United States, according to Senator Capper, are actually changing the industrial map of the country. That is, they are forcing manufacturing establishments to move from places of the country where they have long been located to other parts which are nearer to their supply of fuel and raw material. This is not the belief of Senator Capper alone, for Secretary of Agriculture Wallace has expressed it and so has Secretary Hoover. Various economists are taking note of it.

The case of the cotton mills, for instance, is noteworthy. New England is actually losing great cotton manufacturing enterprises which are beginning to shift to the South, closer to the cotton supply as well as a cheaper labor supply. In part, this movement is due to high freightage.

In the aggregate, it is said there is a shifting of industries on a large scale because of freightage and Senator Capper and others believe this process has only begun provided rates are not materially reduced.

Senator Capper, as well as others of the farm bloc, have declared new war on the famous Section 15 A of the transportation act, the section which provides the roads by groups or as a whole shall have rates which yield a reasonable net return. This so-called guarantee will be the chief objective of a great drive by the farm bloc and progressive group at the coming session and they will try to repeal it.

The farm bloc and progressive leaders are wondering what attitude President Coolidge will take. However, if he does not support repeal, they will not let that fact stand in the way. They will seek to force a repeal measure to passage regardless of the White House.

Zam-Buk Saved me a lot of money

writes Mr. R. Howard, Sr., of Bracebridge, Ont. He continues: "Four years ago I sustained a scratch on my leg, which turned to an ulcer. I was confined to my bed for six months under doctors' treatment, during which time I did not earn a cent, and in addition, spent dollars upon dollars before a cure was effected."

"Recently I sustained a scratch on my other leg. It became very inflamed and swollen, and finally turned to an ulcer. This time, however, I knew about Zam-Buk, and I acted very differently. I used Zam-Buk alone, with the result that not only was the ulcer healed in much shorter time than the previous one, but I was able to go to work all the time it was healing, and I did not lose a single day's pay. I sincerely hope that my experience may be the means of showing other working people the great healing value of Zam-Buk and of saving many from needless expense and unnecessary suffering."

Zam-Buk is just as good for eczema and all skin diseases, ringworm, boils, piles, hemorrhoids, etc. Each box, 3 for $1.25, all druggists, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. Send 1c stamp for postage on free trial box.

ANTI BETTING LAW IS RULED INVALID

Toronto, Sept. 21.—Without leaving the bench, five judges of the Appellate division declared that the Ontario act prohibiting the publication of betting information is ultra vires and invalid.

The decision was based on the ground that this field of legislation was already occupied by Dominion legislation and was so closed to provincial legislation.

Hon. W. F. Nickle, Attorney-General, later directed that all prosecutions cease under the act. The Government would not pursue the matter further, he said.

Ontario newspapers are now free to publish racing news, even to the extent of odds and tips. American sheets which publish betting odds and selections, it is claimed, are barred by the recently passed Federal law. In order to evade it, legal men argue, they would have to get out editions published on this side of the line.

SEEK TO PROBATE ALLEGED LAST WILL OF AMBROSE SMALL

Toronto, Sept. 21.—Proceedings will be taken before Judge Coatsworth in the York County Surrogate Court shortly to probate the alleged last will of Ambrose J. Small, the missing Toronto millionaire, on the application of the widow, Mrs. Small.

Mary Florence Maude Small and Gertrude Mercedes Small, Small's sisters, will oppose probate on the ground that it is not the "last will."

ELECTIONS IN QUEBEC

Quebec, Sept. 21.—After the Cabinet meeting yesterday it was learned unofficially that—Edouard-Quelet, M.L.A. for Yamaska had been appointed to the Cabinet and that the elections in the counties of Abitibi, Bromes, Richmond and Yamaska would be held either October 15 or 22.

MURDER IS ALLEGED

Regina, Sept. 21.—Investigation of the death of Metro Chuprum, whose body was found in a shack near St. Julien, Sask., on Sunday, has shown it to be murder, said a message to provincial police headquarters. It has been found, the telegram adds, that the murderers fired through a window, striking Chuprum on the left side of the skull. The slayer then entered the shack through the window and placed the gun across the body to give the impression of suicide. A money belt which the dead man wore was rifled.

CONFESSING DEFEAT BY EASY STAGES

Although the German Government may not have officially instructed the inhabitants and workers of the Ruhr to cease their passive resistance, it is becoming increasingly clearer that a definite decree of that kind will soon be issued. Meanwhile such unofficial declarations as are coming from Berlin almost every day indicate the German method of confessing failure by easy stages.

Whether France will comply with Germany's request that all expelled civilians be allowed to return, as a condition upon which the authorities at Berlin would resume negotiations for a settlement, or merely consent to release the less important officials and minor employees, is still a matter of doubt. All declarations upon this subject so far have left the impression that the Quai d'Orsay will hold all officials who organized the resistance and encouraged sabotage until they consent to appear before a French court-martial.

This particular point is not likely to offer any very serious obstacle to negotiation if Germany finds that she cannot resist any longer without running grave internal risks. This seems to be the situation which is forcing the authorities at Berlin to make more reasonable gestures towards France. In any case the country knows by this time just what she must do to get rid of her unwelcome "visitors." France is by no means smarting under the delay. Her Government and people are rather pleased to be able to return the "compliment" which Germany paid to them in 1871.

What took place between Premier Baldwin and Premier Poincare on Wednesday has not been made public. There is nothing to indicate that their differing points of view became more reconciled after their private conversation. It is something to assume, however, that nothing took place that would in any way weaken the persistent Entente.

GRUMBING IN HASTE MEANS REPENTING AT LEISURE

By its own correspondent at Winnipeg The London Daily Mail has been furnished with a tale of woe from one or two of the harvest hands who recently arrived in this country from Great Britain and did not find the allegedly advertised "milk and honey" flowing knee deep in the main streets of every Western rural township.

One of these young men describes the whole plan as a "washout" and another says the farmers of the West are cursing everybody high and low because inexperienced people were sent to them to help in the harvest work. For the rest the complaints merely echo the first grumble which arose out of the fact that harvesting operations in some parts could not be commenced the moment the imported assistance arrived on the spot.

We are not prepared altogether to swallow one of the suggestions contained in at least one of these somewhat overdone complaints. This definitely asserts that a large number of these inexperienced harvest hands gave up good jobs in the Old Country in order to come to Canada and earn four dollars a day at a job entirely strange to them and one demanding a little muscle and quite a lot of determination.

Happily such influential newspapers as The Daily Telegraph and a number of the more widely read provincial journals gave full publicity to the reasoned explanations of Canadian officials and then exploded most of the fanciful bubbles in their respective editorial columns.

In contrast with these tales of woe, however, The Daily Mail's "letter bag" of a date considerably prior to the harvest hand incident contains communications from a boy and a full grown man who have gone to Australia to dig their way to fortune on the land. The fact that these refer to Australia makes no difference; similar experiences—twenty months ago as well as twenty years ago—have been described from Canada.

One reads in part as follows:

I am a boy, and twelve months ago last January I saw in your paper that 6,000 boys were wanted in South Australia. I applied for a passage, and have been out here since September, 1922. I was told by many that it would be foolish to emigrate, but I am glad to say that I took no notice of those people, because Australia needs folks from the Old Country, and there are thousands of opportunities for them. Farming out here is much better than at home, and I do not think a boy if he knew what Australia is like would want to stay in England.

Here is another version from an adult Englishman:

If only immigrants would realize the scope offered by Australia and the Australians for the right type of man to settle in the country districts instead of hanging around the large towns and cities, I am sure there would be very few complaints. Any man with energy and determination, willing to work hard, and accepting disappointments as being part of the scheme of things, could not fail ultimately to succeed in a country where thousands of acres are waiting to be taken up, and where the people are only too pleased to give help and encouragement.

A willingness to work hard and accept disappointments as being part of the scheme of things is a mighty useful frame of mind in which to enter a new country and take up a new job. And this is a stipulation which every intending settler—whether he be going to Canada or Australia—should understand. There is no terror in it; but the man who accepts the condition never regrets it and seldom goes back.

THE CITY COMPTROLLER

If there lives in Victoria an individual capable of giving the City Council and the taxpayers efficient service as a Comptroller he should be appointed to the post. If among the applicants that will respond to the advertisement which the Council has decided to publish none is judged fully equipped for the post there should be no hesitation in looking elsewhere.

The City must make up its mind, however, to get the very best man it can for the maximum amount that it is prepared to pay—whether he be found locally or brought from elsewhere in the Province or even from farther afield. The position is a highly important one and upon the calibre of the applicant selected to discharge its duties will depend to a very large extent the manner in which progressive reform is handled in the various departments of administration at the City Hall.

FRIENDLY CO-OPERATION

Although the people of this country have their own business to attend to, and find it difficult to work up any considerable volume of enthusiasm about the affairs of other nations, they recognize that it lies within the power of the Government of this Dominion to reduce to some extent at least the difficulties which the republic to the South is experiencing in the enforcement of its prohibitory laws. What form of co-operation shall be adopted is a matter for the proper departments to work out. But it can be taken for granted that liquor is going from this country into the United States in quantities large enough to bring comparatively effective restriction within easy reach without elaborate or costly machinery. Our neighbors are obviously under no delusion about the situation and the Washington Government will recognize that as long as there is liquor obtainable in this country the courageous illicit trader will devise some ways and means of getting it across the border. The case in point, however, is one that merits Canadian sympathy and consideration. The two peoples are mindful of one another's problems and it is better that they think more in terms of friendly co-operation and less in retaliatory edicts.

Note and Comment

That was a lovely rain we had yesterday and the day before. But the sun in all its September glory is back again with us to-day. Verily our lot is cast in a pleasant place.

The Bavarian Premier is getting up a hymn of hate all on his own. He is telling the people through a celebration known as "German Week" how Germany came through the war undefeated. If he could forget what is happening in the Ruhr he might have a fairly good case for German consumption.

Our provincial legislators are no doubt keeping themselves posted upon the various styles of campaign that are being employed in order to stimulate interest in the manner in which beer "might" be sold in British Columbia. We shall repeat that there is no case in favor of either debating the question of the sale of beer by the glass and certainly no case to submit to the electorate in respect of the proposal.

New York's newspapers have had to consolidate and content themselves with a small combined edition because the pressmen are on an unauthorized strike. The great stores are bemoaning the fact that sales have fallen off enormously because they have not been able to advertise their wares. All of which means that advertising is news and that without advertising the wheels of commerce would go round very slowly indeed.

Some Thoughts for To-day

Doubt indulged soon becomes doubt realized.
Havergal.

He who is false to present duty breaks a thread in a loom, and will find the flaw when he may have forgotten its cause.
Beecher.

But now I am cabin'd, cribb'd, confin'd, bound in
To saucy doubts and fears.
Shakespeare.

And dreams in their development have breath,
And tears and tortures, and the touch of joy;
They have a weight upon our waking thoughts,
They take a weight from off our waking toils,
They do divide our being.
Byron.

Our Contemporaries

AN EARLY START
Toronto Mail and Empire—Dr. Charles F. Steinmetz, one of the most eminent of American electricians, says that in a hundred years from now nobody will work more than four hours a day. If so, it might be as well to begin to train children now how to enjoy their leisure hours profitably, so that their great-grandchildren may master the important art.

BAD MENTAL STATE
Winnipeg Tribune—Undoubtedly much of the hard times and poor business feeling is due to a state of mind. Of all countries Canada has the least reason for indulging in doleful ruminations regarding the future. The basic conditions in this country are sound. If depression has come, it is not because of any failure on the part of the national resources of the land, nor of any dwindling in our capacity as a nation to produce. There has been a shrinking in the people's capacity to consume, due to inherent defects in the universally adopted policy of financial deflation, but there has also been a further handicap to better business conditions and wider prosperity in the mental attitude which reveals a lack of confidence in Canada's soundness and a timidity in the face of the so-called "stringency" which is on the lips of those of little faith.

FINDS PUBLICITY DRIVE ORGANIZED

Vancouver Citizens Collect $100,000 For Great Campaign

The remarkable effort being made to gather a $100,000 publicity fund in Vancouver is explained to The Times to-day by O. Hollingsworth, special representative of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, who has been examining into the situation there.

The regular channels of organization through window displays in the department and other leading stores, and in the office windows of the transportation companies, through team drives, and similar efforts are being supplemented on this occasion by the appeal being made on the sidewalks down town.

The special car now in California, carrying an invitation from Mayor Tisdall to the mayors and other authorities in the Golden State, is meeting with exceptional success. There is an assurance that the completion of the Pacific Highway paving through to Los Angeles by 1924 will bring thousands of motorists to this section of Pacific Northwest, to the benefit not only of the Lower Mainland, but of the whole British Columbia coast district.

Mr. Hollingsworth is particularly struck with the splendid co-operation shown by the leading citizens of Vancouver in "putting over" the drive, which will reach adequate funds for the purpose. Mr. R. Davidson, the publicity man, has been greatly handicapped financially, but the astonishing increase in the automobile traffic this year, and the statistics presented to show how financially the coast cities are directly benefiting from tourist business has changed public opinion in Vancouver, as elsewhere. That circumstance affords the corner stone of the successful campaign now in progress in Vancouver.

OUTFIT REFUGEES AT WILLIAM HEAD

Hasten Preparations to Receive Next Party From Japan

It has been decided that, in view of the great public interest attaching to the work, and the necessity for stimulating the interest of the Red Cross will endeavor through the medium of the press, to keep the public in touch with the work that organization is doing from day to day in connection with the sufferers from the devastated cities of Japan.

The men, women and children, who have been staying at the Quarantine Station, have now been completely out-fitted with clothing, replacing the totally inadequate garments in which they arrived. Transportation has been arranged for Mrs. Crum and her nephew, Maurice Bruce. They will proceed this afternoon to England. Mr. Nobles and Mr. Porter have gone to their home in Edmonton. Mr. Gratton, whose wife and four little girls are still at the Station, is at present in Vancouver, where the Musicians Union are endeavoring to assist him to find a position. Mr. and Mrs. Burton have taken up their quarters in town. Mr. Burton, who was severely wounded overseas, has been suffering since his arrival here from a recurrence of his old trouble. The three members of the Garborette family who had expected to go from here to Seattle where they have friends, are still at the Station, pending action by the Immigration Authorities. There still remain therefore twenty persons for whom the Red Cross are caring, seven of whom are children. Every effort is being made to assist the men of the party to secure billets. They are all competent business men, and this condition of affairs must only be temporary with them. But it is most important that they should have every help possible. It is desired to emphasize that all of the funds given to the Red Cross by the Canadian Red Cross are being expended here for the immediate benefit of the sufferers who have already come and who will come from time to time. It is expected that the two incoming Expresses will have many more refugees, and the Red Cross will be taxed to the utmost to meet their crying need.

The committee report that a general tone of cheerfulness prevailed throughout the wards which reflected in no uncertain manner the splendid care and attention which the ex-soldiers are receiving from Dr. Pearce and his staff of nurses and assistants. A keen interest was displayed in local affairs, especially the opening of the football season next Saturday. The soldier patients say they are looking forward to the forthcoming season and will closely follow the career of the ex-service team which is being organized through the joint efforts of the ex-service associations in the city.

Returned Soldier Patients in Hospital Looking for Opening of Season Saturday

The sick committee of the Grand Army of United Veterans made their regular visit to the Royal Provincial Jubilee Hospital, calling upon all ex-service patients and distributing the Monday quota of smokes and other comforts supplied by the joint fund of ex-service associations in the city.

I.O.D.E. LOSES EFFICIENT OFFICERS

Municipal Chapter to Suspend Secondary Education Bursaries For One Year

After nine years of devoted service in the capacity of honorary secretary of the Municipal Chapter, I.O.D.E., Mrs. David Miller has resigned that office. Her communication to this effect was read at yesterday's meeting of that body and received with sincere regret, several members paying tribute to her loyal and efficient service, in which sentiments the Chapter heartily concurred. The Chapter's loss in the resignation of Mrs. Miller was aggravated by the announcement of the forthcoming departure for California of Mrs. F. H. Mayhew, honorary treasurer for many years, whose efficient management of the books has contributed in no small measure to the smooth running of the order locally.

Secondary Education
Secondary education came in for much discussion following the report of Miss A. B. Cooke, educational secretary, and a resolution was passed that the Municipal Chapter suspend

SAYS WORKMAN'S BEER PAIL IS BETTER THAN HIP FLASK

MRS. EVANGELINE DUFF

West Hoboken, N.J., Sept. 20. — Paila, petticoats and politics. They're all mixed up in the fight which Mrs. Evangeline Duff is waging to gain the mayoralty nomination here.

For Mrs. Duff, being a woman and health commissioner of the city at that, was expected to come forth with a platform advocating a rigid adherence to prohibition. Instead of which she has startled the community by coming out flatly for beer for the working man.

"If I'm elected mayor," she says, "I'll enforce the law with both hands. But that doesn't have to keep me from talking. And I'm for light wines and beer."

"The tin pail is honest. The silver fluted hip flask isn't," Mrs. Duff says, that secret motto of the women in the country agree with her.

"They're tired of this sham," she continues. "I've talked with women all over the country."

"The wife of the poor man brews it in her home. The wife of the rich man serves it at her bridge parties. I was at a gathering of club women recently where at least 600 of them admitted that liquor was served in their homes."

"These women, as well as the wives of working men, are tired of hypocrisy. All they need is a woman with courage enough to come out and say so."

Mrs. Duff believes that she is that woman. And there may be foundations for her courage.

And just to show that she has the whole family in mind, she is advocating more milk for the school children. Her scheme is for each family in a city block to contribute a quart a week.

Not that Mrs. Duff's platform is exclusively liquor. She also urges police matrons in the parks, women on grand juries and stricter divorce laws.

PROVINCIAL W.C.T.U. ELECTS OFFICERS

Vancouver Women Would Abolish Gambling and Dance Halls

Vancouver, Sept. 20.—The election of officers for the Provincial W. C. T. U. for the coming year was held yesterday and resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Wright; first vice-president, Mrs. Gillespie; second vice-president, Mrs. Allen; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Lanning; recording secretary, Mrs. John Harvey; treasurer, Mrs. Yapp; "Y" secretary, Mrs. Willis; L. T. secretary, Mrs. Bevan.

Miss Sproule gave a talk on mission work and stated that only one union from Victoria was carrying on mission work, an omission on the part of the others which was much regretted. Each union was asked to appoint a superintendent for the Canadianizing of foreigners.

Mrs. Cantell reporting for the Vancouver district work urged the unions to press for better inspection of milk, garbage cans; the elimination of gambling at the Fall fairs and the abolition of dance halls in the interests of the young people. It was announced that Mrs. Wright, of London, Ontario, Dominion president, had left to visit the British Isles in the interests of W. C. T. U. work.

EX-SOLDIER BLAMES OTTAWA FOR HIS MARRIAGE TANGLE

Toronto Woman Judge Has to Unravel Knotty Problem

Toronto, Sept. 21.—Toronto's woman magistrate, Mrs. Margaret Patterson, is called upon in her court to-day to rival the late Judge Solomon in wisdom when two women present their claims to one man, who is the husband of both of them.

The charge is bigamy, but neither she nor the prosecutor consider this an ordinary case of matrimonial felony.

William Everingham, serving overseas with the Canadian army, was called before his colonel in 1916 and notified that his wife was dead. This was an official dispatch from Ottawa. An official wrote in his paybook, "Wife dead. He signed over his allowance to his mother who had the care of his little daughter Florence. He was later wounded and invalided to England."

During three years of his convalescence the wife, whom he thought dead, but now is alive, sent him no communication, he says in his evidence. He returned to Canada in 1919. Believing himself a widower, in 1920 he married Dorothy Miles. It was a happy marriage and two children were born.

A few weeks ago his first wife stood before him and pointed a living and accusing finger at him in the witness-box. He was accused of bigamy. The case was adjourned for investigation. It seems that Ottawa had made a mistake. It had received a letter from some person unknown containing the information that Mrs. William Everingham was dead and had sent the information to the war front.

When interviewed to-day he said: "Ottawa got me into this trouble. Ottawa should get me out of it."

WILL CONGRATULATE INSULIN DISCOVERER

The Municipal Chapter, I.O.D.E., at its meeting yesterday endorsed the suggestion of the Bishop Cridge Chapter that a letter be sent to Dr. F. G. Banting, congratulating him upon his great discovery for medical science.

Announcement was made of the disbanding of the Lady Alderson Chapter, I.O.D.E., a letter from the regent, Mrs. E. S. Hassell, stating that the chapter's standard had been bequeathed to the Royal Bride Junior Chapter, while the balance of the funds had been dedicated by the members to the Hassell Memorial fund. The members will not be lost to the order, however, many of them signifying their intention of joining other chapters.

Mrs. Miles, reporting for the maternity committee, stated that two

COLWOOD NEWS

Colwood, Sept. 20.—The Colwood, Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute held their monthly meeting at the Luxton Hall on Wednesday afternoon. The chair was taken by the vice-president, Mrs. H. Parker, in the absence of the president, Mrs. E. Peatt.

A very interesting address was given by Mr. Cheetham, of Victoria, on "Definition of Character and Vocational Training," the speaker emphasizing the necessity of the study of the subjects, particularly when dealing with children. The following delegates were then elected to represent the Institute at the forthcoming convention of Island Institutes: Miss Dwyer, by virtue of her office of secretary; Mrs. C. Goddard, of Colwood, and Mrs. Baker, of Happy Valley.

A special meeting of the ratepayers of the Colwood district will be held in the Schoolhouse on Friday evening, Sept. 21, at 7 o'clock, for the purpose of electing a trustee and also to look into the plans for the new addition to the school. A good attendance is particularly requested.

Members of the Metchosin Farmers' Institute and residents of the district covered by the Association are reminded that the Hon. John Oliver, Premier of British Columbia, will give an address on "Problems of the Government in B.C." and will also speak on the freight rate question at Metchosin Hall on Friday, Sept. 21, at 8 p.m.

Friday, September 28, is the date set for the masquerade dance to be held in the Metchosin Hall under the auspices of the Metchosin Women's Institute. Miss Muir's orchestra has been engaged to play for dancing, and special prizes will be given for the best costumes, and a prize donated by Lady Stratford for the best couple. Dancing will commence at 9 p.m. and card tables will be arranged in the anti-room for those preferring play to dancing.

YOUR HOME AND YOU

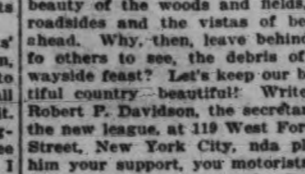

By HELEN KENDALL

For Motorists Only

You who drive cars and who doesn't nowadays—I am hoping that the above title will catch your eye and give you pause. I'd like to write it so large that even "he who drives my car" will read it.

Have you heard of the Motorists' League for Countryside Preservation? If so, I'm sure you are already a member. If not, do enrol yourself under its banner at once, for it is the new gospel of the road. Here is its pledge:

"I, as a member of the Motorists' League for Countryside Preservation, pledge myself to do what I can to preserve the countryside so that all may share in the enjoyment of it. To this end I will leave a resting-place or camp site clean and free from papers or litter of any sort. I will be careful of trees and shrubbery, of brooks and streams. I will be careful in the making of camps and fires. I will make every effort to leave the roadside in such condition that the pleasure to be derived from it by others is not lessened through any careless act of mine."

Surely we motorists, of all people, are the ones who most appreciate the beauty of the woods and fields, the roadides and the vistas of beauty ahead. Why, then, leave behind us, to others to see, the debris of our wayward feast? Let's keep our beautiful country beautiful. Write to Robert F. Davidson, the secretary of the new league, at 119 West Fortieth Street, New York City, nda pledge him your support, you motorists!

There's time in the package

Time to do the many things ordinarily put off on wash-day. For Rinso does not keep you standing over the wash-tub, rubbing until your back aches and your hands are red and sore.

Rinso, an entirely different kind of soap, soaks clothes clean. Rubbing and boiling are unnecessary. The big soapy Rinso suds gently loosen the most ground-in dirt without weakening a single thread.

NOTE: In hard water it takes from 1 to 2 packages of Rinso to a tub to make good suds. In very hard water you will need from 1 1/2 to 2 packages to a tub to get the best sudsing made that loosens all the dirt.

PLAYHOUSE

The Compton Comedy Company has scored a success with its second offering of the season, "Cappy Ricks." The quaint idiosyncrasies and laughable characteristics of the blustering old Cappy, who, behind it all, hides a kind and generous heart, furnish matter for the best kind of comedy. Mr. Compton is not slow to take advantage of the opportunities afforded by the part and gives a remarkable performance of this amusing character.

Miss Peggy Dundas scores very heavily as Cappy's daughter, and makes a very bewitching appearance in several smart costumes. Mr. Bruce Bredin contributes in no small way to the evening's amusement. Miss Agnes Burton and Mr. Herbert Leslie, as always, acquit themselves with distinction, whilst Mr. Clifford Winterperson plays the part of the manly young sailor, Matt, to perfection.

COLUMBIA

Compared with "Prairie Trails," the new Fox production in which Tom Mix opened an engagement at the Columbia Theatre last night, the most western motion pictures are "parlor stuff." Here is a story crammed with action and thrills, with a leading actor capable of all the hair-raising stunts that the scenario calls for.

Tom Mix is a marvel on horseback, but it is a remarkable fact that many of his most startling feats are independent of his skill in horsemanship. Witness his great leap over a cliff in "Prairie Trails." The cliff is at least forty feet high. Three men are struggling at the bottom. Tom Mix, instead of merely jumping off the cliff or climbing down its face—which would give the men time to prepare for him—actually dives over headfirst, landing in the shelving sand and leaping up in time to rout his adversaries by the sheer shock of surprise. And this is not the most daring exploit in the picture.

All who love good, stirring stories of outdoor life should see "Prairie Trails." No more wholesome excitement could be prescribed than this thrilling drama of the great west.

There are more stunts in the picture. There is a rattling good story from the novel by James B. Hendryx.

ROYAL VICTORIA

The greater portion of the action in "Take Me Back to Blighty" or "Squibs Wins the Calcutta Sweep" is staged in Paris and really staged in Paris. The boulevards of Paris figure prominently and the entire company was taken across the channel and the result is such that it can be classed with the greatest efforts of photography on either continent. The plot is well worthy of the artists and the intro-weaving of the extremely comic by plays round the Calcutta sweepstakes the greatest annual horse race in the world brings unlimited fortune to none other than Sam Opkins himself who holds a ticket bearing the same name as the sweep winner and thereby ends the tale. Even the sweepstakes is transmitted to the screen and the result is one that makes you feel like going out and buying the city hall. It is a great picture.

This English comedy will be the feature attraction at the Royal again to-day.

CAPITOL

Modern adaptations of this particular Egyptian period were made for Miss Naldi by leading designers of New York with the result that her gowns are said to be "le dernier cri" in Egyptian mode, which, according to the leading modistes, is to be the dominating note in the fashions of this and subsequent seasons for years to come.

"Miss Naldi is Cleopatra reincarnated," declared Mr. Dwan. "Many leading artists have said that she is the nearest to the famous Egyptian character to be found in America. With her long, slender arms and limbs, piercing black eyes and raven black hair, she is wonderful in Egyptian clothes that are bizarre to the last degree, and in a surrounding of ancient splendor."

In "Lawful Larceny" we give the public the newest ideas of Egyptian fashions and decorations. We have spared no expense and time in research for this material. Miss Naldi is a charmer of men in the picture and we have given her the latest weapons with which to work her charms.

Not only will Miss Naldi be clad in Egyptian gowns, but she will have a complete Egyptian background for her machinations against men. Every photograph of King Tut-an-kh-Amen's tomb printed in this country was studied for ideas. No detail was overlooked in making Miss Naldi's latest appearance on the screen the most sensational of her career.

"BEASTS OF THE NORTH" WILL BE SHOWN AT THE CAPITOL

An actor may struggle along for years and never be heard of—then presto! his name suddenly sweeps the country whirling fashion. This is exemplified in the career of Pat Hartigan, who plays the part of Shad Galloway in "Where the North Begins," which will be shown at the Capitol Theatre for a week beginning next Monday, as the feature attraction.

Hartigan spent many years in motion pictures but was little known until the public witnessed his superb performance of the villainous Morgan with Richard Barthelmene in "Fury." His life has been that of a true soldier of fortune, the atmosphere in which he spent his childhood being conducive to the mode of existence. He was born in a small province in the south of Ireland, in 1881. His father was a breeder of fine horses. Finishing school, Hartigan went to Trinity College, then joined the English Army and served in the Boer War. Coming to Canada, he joined the mounted police, after which, he returned to London and joined the stage.

He has played on the stage with Sir Henry Irving, in the United States he spent two years with David Belasco's organization. In 1907 he went to Vitagraph and from this time he has been in the "movies." Some of his pictures are "The Life of Moses," "Dark Secrets" and "Down to the Sea in Ships." His part in "Where the North Begins" requires strong characterization and vigor. He is cast as the tyrannical factor of a Hudson Bay trading post who rules with an iron hand over a group of men and women isolated from civilization.

It is a Warner Brothers classic of the screen in which appears Rintin-tin, the trained police dog, who has affixed many championships in the last few years, and has starred in

EARTHQUAKE WRECK AT YOKOHAMA TO BE SHOWN

As a special added attraction next week the Royal will present in addition to its feature picture, "Wandering Daughters," the great scenic production of the earthquake at Yokohama. The first part will show the Empress of Australia leaving this port, the arrival at Yokohama, the beginning of the earthquake and the fire which followed so closely afterwards.

"THE GREEN GODDESS" WILL BE PRESENTED AT THE DOMINION

Manager J. M. Robertson, of the Dominion theatre, announces the third of the Fall season of super-productions for next week's showing, "The Green Goddess," featuring the distinguished actor George Arliss, supported by Alice Joyce, David Powell, and Harry T. Morey. This latest Goldwyn-Cosmopolitan special is full of thrills, beauty, drama and tense appeal. It grips and fascinates! Each detail, each episode, each scene, the final climax, mark a new era in motion-picture history. This picture played on Broadway for two years, and proved an enormous success. All the players in the cast, and this includes even those who served as extras, have done their bits to make this the best photoplay of its kind ever produced. The entire production is a screen triumph.

TO TELL BUILDERS SOME FACTS ABOUT B.C. CEMENT

The status of the cement industry in British Columbia, in view of costs of production, and the limited demand provincially for the output of the two plants in the vicinity of Victoria will be the subject of a statement to be made by E. Tomlin, secretary of the B. C. Cement Company, to the Vancouver Builders' Exchange at a dinner on September 27. Mr. Tomlin will explain the particular problems of the industry, knowing that some of the contractors intend to argue that the price per barrel for cement is higher in British Columbia than elsewhere. There are a great many factors, both import and export problems, of which he desires to tell the exchange.

RITHETS APPOINTED
BLUE FUNNEL AGENTS

Dodwell and Co. Move to Vancouver But Appoint
Representatives Here

MacTavish Bros. Will Handle
the Border Line Service

There was no Blue Funnel sign hanging in the N. Y. K. office window this morning as an article appearing in a morning paper led shipping circles to believe. Instead the announcement was made that Rithet's Consolidated were appointed local agents for the Blue Funnel line in Victoria, which up until yesterday was represented by Dodwell & Co. Dodwell & Co. announced recently that they were moving to Vancouver and would appoint a local agency here and send another representative over to Victoria when Blue Funnel boats arrived from the Orient and the United Kingdom.

Considerable mix-up has been caused on the waterfront owing to the mistaken announcement to-day, shipping men said. Rithet's announced this morning that they would look after the business in the future for the Blue Funnel line. They said that although Henry Davidson was leaving town he would still be a frequent visitor as he would be appointed to come to Victoria whenever a Blue Funnel boat arrived.

The agency does not include the Border line service of Dodwell & Co. however. MacTavish brothers have been appointed to the Border line service, and will handle all the company's vessel plying in this trade.

Arrangements are being completed whereby Rev. Wm. Ogden, of Vancouver, will give his illustrated lecture, "Pompeii, the Romance of a Buried City," at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Monday, October 1.

ASIA WILL DOCK
HERE TO-MORROW

Empress of Australia Has 34
Refugees Aboard; No Refugees on Asia

Having dropped Yokohama from her itinerary the Empress of Asia will dock here early to-morrow morning two days ahead of her schedule. According to latest advice the vessel will make quarantine at 9 o'clock to-morrow and dock at the Outer Wharf at 10:30 o'clock.

According to late reports there will be thirty-four refugees on board the Empress of Australia when she docks. So far as is known at present there are no refugees on the Empress of Asia. Of these thirty-four, two are stretcher cases, who will go on at once to Vancouver to enter hospital there. One of the refugees is quite destitute.

The Red Cross will follow the same procedure with the two incoming Empresses as it did with the President Jefferson. Mrs. Fleming will board the boat with the quarantine officers and will ascertain if there are any among the refugees who need material assistance. If there are, they will disembark at William Head, where they will be housed and fed and cared for by the Red Cross.

THIRTY MILLION
TINS OF SALMON
IS B.C. PACK

Canadian Pack Report Issued
To-day; Shows 626,266
Cases For Province

The British Columbia canned salmon pack for the 1923 season will run approximately 626,266 cases according to official Canadian estimates announced to-day.

District number one, the Fraser River waters, has a total pack of 19,440 cases. District number two, comprising Fraser River, Skeena River, Rivers Inlet, Smith Inlet, Bella Coola and vicinity, has a pack of 561,747 cases. District number three, Alert Bay, Vancouver Island waters and Mainland water directly opposite, contributed 44,879 cases to the total.

Of the total, 290,901 cases are sockeye, 251,144 cases are pink, 26,123 cohoes, 18,181 cases are spring, 160 cases blueback, and 662 cases steelhead. As each case contains four or eight one-pound tins, the 626,266 cases represent 30,960,768 one-pound tins.

New Westminster, Sept. 21.—The salmon still running in the Fraser are in such good condition that Inspector A. P. Halliday, of the Dominion Fisheries, is of opinion that there is no necessity to order a shutdown of fishing for either pink or sockeye. The week-end close season was marked by a big run of fish up-river to the spawning grounds. So lively were the schools that many pinks were seen running out of the water.

YELLOW CABS HERE;
OLSON CUTS DOWN
CITY MOTOR FARES

First Taximeter Service Here
Puts Transportation Charges
on New Basis

Victoria's first consignment of Yellow Cabs arrived and were unpacked late yesterday. The fleet of Yellow Cabs, all taximetered cars of the latest model now in operation in Chicago and New York, are being put on the streets of Victoria by H. B. "Barney" Olson, who owns and built up the big motor, sightseeing taxi business of the Empress Garage.

There are three cars in the first carload consignment to reach here. Another consignment will reach here as soon as they are turned out by the motor builders for the order of Mr. Olson here.

He will put the first three units of the fleet into service at 6 p.m. Saturday.

Inauguration of a metropolitan taxicab service will be preceded by a parade of the Yellow Cabs through the streets of the city at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Inauguration of the Yellow Cab service here will mean the reduction of automobile transportation rates to the levels of big cities in the East, Mr. Olson said. This will be possible by modern organization, the introduction of efficiency methods in the handling of drivers and cars so that they will give a maximum of service, and the elimination of waste time on the part of drivers under present methods.

Mr. Olson announced the taxicab rates in Victoria as follows: thirty cents for first quarter-mile; ten cents for each quarter-mile thereafter.

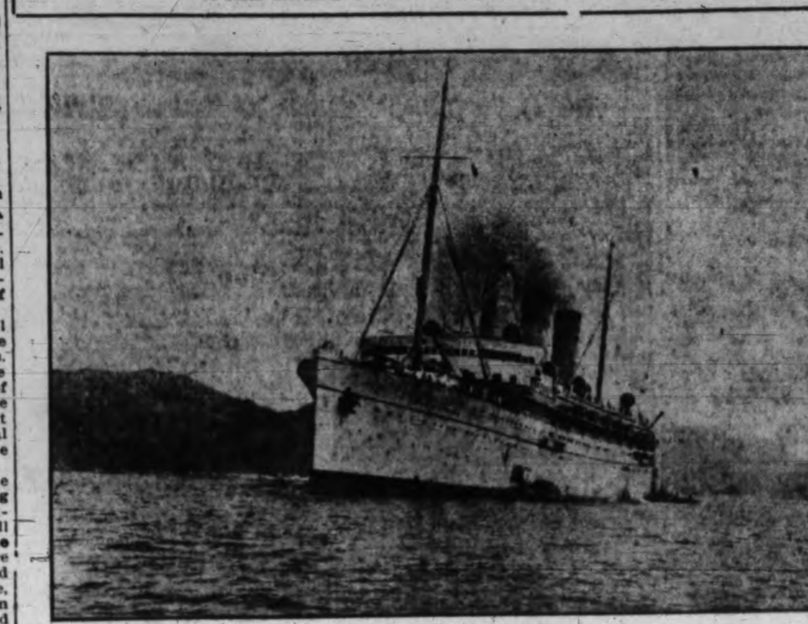

For each extra person a flat charge of twenty-five cents will be made, covering the entire trip.

A charge of ten cents will be made for each three minutes of waiting. Passengers will know exactly what they have to pay, as the fare will be registered on the taximeter placed so it is in full view all the time.

"A passenger need never fear that he will be overcharged in a Yellow Cab, as the distance he travels is measured on the meter and he knows exactly what is the correct charge," Mr. Olson said. "There is no guess work about distance, as there is with unmetered cars."

The members of the Blue Bird Circle of the King's Daughters' Bazaar, a rummage sale on Saturday morning at ten o'clock in the Winch Building, Fort Street, to raise funds to pay for the chair they are giving to the hospital.

WILL MAKE PORT EARLY TO-MORROW MORNING

C. P. S. EMPRESS OF ASIA
Having dropped Yokohama from her itinerary the Empress of Asia will dock here to-morrow morning two days ahead of her scheduled arrival. She is reported due to make quarantine at 9 o'clock, and will probably dock here at pier 2 of Rithet's at 10:30. There are a few refugees aboard but the majority are on the Empress of Australia, which is expected Sunday at noon. The Asia left Hongkong on September 6.

ANNOUNCEMENT IS MADE OF VESSELS
TO TAKE LUMBER

Relief Lumber, Gift of B.C.,
Will go Out on Skirmisher and Transporter

It was learned at the local office of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine that the Canadian Skirmisher now at Prince Rupert would be the first boat to leave for Japan with relief supplies of lumber. British Columbia's gift to the distressed country.

The first lot of lumber will go out on the Skirmisher and will comprise 125,000 feet to be loaded on at Prince Rupert. British Columbia mills have been instructed to cut an additional 1,300,000 feet for the government, to be forwarded in the near future to Yokohama as further relief. This cargo will probably be loaded on the steamer Canadian Transporter now here.

Negotiations between the Provincial Government and the head offices of the Canadian Merchant Marine, Ltd., are now under way to secure the space on the vessel.

Secures Contract
to Repair Sebree

Seattle, Sept. 21.—On a bid of approximately $12,500 a contract for repairs to the steamship Admiral Sebree of the Admiral Line has been awarded to the Todd Dry Docks, Inc., the low bidder.

Several other plants submitted tenders. On her last voyage in the South-eastern Alaska route the vessel touched bottom in one of the northern canyons. Several plates will have to be removed to be faired and returned to the hull or to be replaced by new ones. The liner brought a cargo of canned salmon from the North.

The Todd yard is now handling an extensive repair job on the Shipping Board freighter West Hamrod and the California Steamship Company's freighter Pawnee.

GRAIN MOVEMENT
BECOMING RAPID

Fort William, Ont., Sept. 21.—Intense activity may be expected along the waterfront in the opening days of the grain clearance. About one thousand cars a day are being delivered to elevators in both ports daily, and this number will be doubled before the month is out.

All elevators are cleared for action and have practically doubled their staffs over the summer time establishment. To-day thirteen ships are loading. Seven are on their way, and new storage space will be available next month. The Western terminal at Port William, is to be completed by October 1, says J. H. Irvine.

Bawf and Stewart elevators will be ready later in the Fall, together with the Richardson addition, but all will participate in the handling of some part of the crop this season.

Railway men say their system of car clearance here is wonderfully efficient compared with a year ago. The Canadian National Railway heading yards are partly responsible, together with the improvements in the Canadian Pacific line and sorting yards.

Unemployment is Great in Glasgow

Ottawa, Sept. 21.—Very serious conditions exist at present in Glasgow, says Canadian Trade Commissioner Johnson, writing to the department of trade and commerce. Perhaps never in the history of shipbuilding on the Clyde, he says, has such a long period been experienced as during the last three months.

There are at present 75,000 unemployed in Glasgow, he writes. Projects such as road construction and widening are being carried out in order to provide relief.

Rode 24-Pound
Salmon to Death

Vancouver, Wash., Sept. 21.—T. M. Wilson, eighty, of Hazel Dell, leaped astride the back of a twenty-four-pound salmon and beat it to death with a board, he reported here to-day. Wilson was fishing for bass in Salmon Creek when he observed a school of salmon proceeding up the creek to their spawning grounds, he said. As one big fish crossed a shallow bar, he was protruding from the water and Wilson, after a struggle lasting several minutes, landed his catch and carried it home.

MAKE PLANS FOR NEW SYSTEM OF
WATER TRANSPORT

Small Barges Will be Towed
Along Like Freight Train
From Lakes to Gulf

St. Louis, Sept. 21 (Associated Press).—A new system expected to mark an era in inland waterway transportation, is planned by a group of prominent St. Louis business men who have incorporated the Standard Unit Navigation Company. Under the plans, transportation on the Mississippi and other rivers of the country would be handled in a manner similar to railroad transportation. New types of towboats and barges are to be used, extensive trials of which have proved successful, officials said.

Explaining the method Carl J. Baer, one of the directors, declared that instead of the huge barges in use on the lower Mississippi and other rivers, the system provides for small barges which would be linked together like freight cars of a train. The towboats would weigh only one-third as much as the present towboats, but would develop the same power.

Proportion of the boats would be from paddles fixed on an endless chain, each side of the boat. Every paddle, which would exert a direct thrust at the water, would develop more pulling power than the usual paddle-wheel and with less resistance, according to Mr. Baer.

The barges will be small, having a capacity of from one to three car loads, continued Mr. Baer. "Trains of barges would be made up in a fashion similar to freight-car trains, with no waiting for loading or unloading. A barge designed for a river trip would be dropped at that port and the train would proceed, picking up loaded barges at different points."

"Division of the rivers, like railroad divisions, would be established, the towboats hauling the barges through their divisions and delivering the tow to other boats at the division points."

"The design of the towboats and barges will be such that they can operate efficiently in three feet of water," Mr. Baer pointed out that under the proposed method, Gulf to the Lakes service would immediately become feasible by using the present canal from Chicago to the Illinois River and then to the Mississippi. He added that towboats and barges of the new type had been contracted for, and that the service was expected to begin next summer.

SHIPBUILDING IN BRITAIN LAGGING

New Construction Falls Short of Measuring Up to Early Prospects

"The first six months of 1923 have not carried out the prospects for British shipbuilding interests with which the year began," says Commercial Attaché Walter S. Tower, of London, in his report to the United States Department of Commerce. "Employment for vessels has not expanded to the extent which was predicted six months ago, and the freight rates and charter markets have failed to maintain any improvement. Shipbuilding also has encountered unforeseen difficulties which quite nullified the effects of the revival of activity that was evident in the closing months of last year."

Causes of Building Decline
According to Mr. Tower, the unsatisfactory position of the shipowner naturally is reflected in the state of the shipbuilding industry, but at the same time, "other difficulties have combined to aggravate the matter." He says: "Notable among these are the labor disputes with the boilermakers' society and the higher cost of materials. As a result, the shipyard, which started the year with a better outlook than at any other time for many months, soon found themselves almost if not quite as badly off as they were in May, 1922."

CAPTAIN SAW
ISLAND VANISH
DURING QUAKE

Oshima Island is no More,
Declares Captain Itah, Who Saw Sea Swallow it up

San Francisco, Sept. 21.—An island suddenly vanishing from sight beneath the surface of a quake-churned sea, magnificent buildings and Yokohama and Yokusaka crumbling into ruin, and great fires springing up everywhere, were some of the scenes witnessed by Captain Tatsuho Itah and the members of the crew of the Japanese ship Horikawa Maru, which arrived here last night. The vessel sailed from Yokohama one hour before the first earthquake shock. Captain Itah declared the island of Oshima, famed beauty spot of Japan, dropped from sight beneath the sea, as if swallowed up.

"It was there, and then it was not," he said. "In seeking my location after the ship had been bounced around like a cork, I looked for the island. It looked like the place where it had been, and the island went. Only the water rolled over the place where it had been."

"We were proceeding along Tokyo Bay. The sea was calm. Suddenly the ship jumped up and down, while the sea became rough for a time I thought we were in a reef."

"I looked toward the land and saw many magnificent buildings of Yokohama, eight miles away, and of Yokusaka, three miles away, in the other direction, begin to crumble and fall. They tumbled over like blocks."

"Within about ten minutes the sea became calm and the wind returned to normal. We proceeded on our way, certain that a great disaster had visited Japan."

Attention Drawn to New Service

Ottawa, Sept. 21.—The Department of Trade and Commerce draws attention to the inauguration of a monthly service via Panama Canal between Vancouver, Avonmouth and Glasgow by the Canadian Government Merchant Marine.

The Canadian Winner, sailing on October 20, will be the first boat to make the trip. Vessels outbound are expected to carry iron, canned goods, lumber and general cargo, and will probably return with iron and steel goods, liquor and general cargo.

Vessel Went Ashore in Fog

Providence, R. I., Sept. 21.—The Colonial passenger liner Lexington from New York went aground in a thick fog in Narragansett Bay early to-day. The passengers were transferred to a small steamer and brought here. The Lexington is believed to be undamaged.

Yellow
Cab
Promises Cab Evolution
in Victoria

To-morrow evening at 6 o'clock the YELLOW CAB CO. will make its bow to Victoria, and place in commission new YELLOW CAB equipment, with a definite promise that we will give to the people of this city the service, system and satisfaction they have been pleading for and have never had.

The YELLOW CAB CO. is a Victoria concern operated by a Victoria man who is vitally interested in the welfare and progress of this city and its environs. So that at the very outset of its career this company has the organization and financial responsibility which must of necessity create confidence.

YELLOW CABS are the finest cabs in the world and are the product of the YELLOW CAB MANUFACTURING COMPANY of Chicago, which builds the cabs for the Yellow Cab Operating Company of Chicago—the largest and most successful cab company in the world. We have the same system, the same type of organization and the same methods of operation and maintenance, only on a smaller scale.

YELLOW CABS will be driven, not by ordinary cab drivers, or the irresponsible kind you have known in the past, but by men picked for their intelligence, decency and ability, who have been trained to know what the public wants in courteous and efficient service.

We want the people of Victoria to know you will regulate our rates.
We want lower rates. That depends on volume. So it is practically in your hands to make the rates. Give us the volume and we will give you low rates.

As rapidly as Victoria shows that it wants more cabs we will add YELLOW CABS to our initial fleet. We don't care how many. The more the better for all of us.

Watch for the YELLOW CABS to-morrow.

Hail Them Anywhere

MAGNESIA BEST FOR YOUR INDIGESTION

Warns Against Doping Stomach With Artificial Digestants

Most people who suffer, either occasionally or chronically from gas, sourness and indigestion, have now discovered the use of harmless drugs, stomach tonics, medicines and artificial digestants, and instead, following the advice so often given in these columns, take a teaspoonful or two of tablets of Bisulphate of Magnesia in a little water after meals with the result that their stomachs no longer trouble them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Bisulphate of Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time because they know this wonderful "artificial" and "good" corrective, which can be obtained from any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation, without the slightest pain or discomfort. Try this plan yourself, but be certain to get pure Bisulphate of Magnesia, especially prepared for stomach use.

NEWS IN BRIEF

At Centennial Methodist Church to-night the radio concert will include vocal solos by Miss Lois Lockwood and George Patterson, and cornet solos by Sidney Rogers.

In a brief session of the Provincial Police Court to-day Richard Coverdale was fined $25 for shooting a doe deer. The minimum penalty was imposed in view of extenuating circumstances set out by the accused.

The S.D.S. Club raised a substantial sum for the Japanese relief fund through its entertainment in the Harmony Hall on Wednesday evening. Among the attractions enjoyed by patrons was an interesting lantern lecture on "Victoria Fifty Years Ago" by A. H. Maynard.

Knocked from the running board of a milk delivery wagon driven by his father, William, a fourteen-year-old boy, received slight injuries yesterday afternoon when he was struck by a car stated to have been driven by Miss Donovan, 1469 Vining Street.

That thieves forced the front door of his premises at Vancouver Street and Yates Street and got away with $15 in one sum reported J. F. Cameron to the city police to-day. The theft was discovered when the owner of the premises arrived to open shop this morning.

To make a cash birthday gift to Billy Muir, the injured V.I.A.A. diver, the swimmers of the city, under the chairmanship of Audrey Griffin, will stage a dance at Sample's Hall next Friday. All the clubs of the city are lending their aid. The Western Orchestra will supply the music, and it is hoped to raise upwards of one hundred dollars to duplicate the successful birthday dance held last year.

The second September meeting of Queen Alexandra Review, No. 11, W.B.A., was held last night in the K. of P. Hall. Commander Mrs. Bloor presiding. Being social night, the meeting was short, but there was one initiation. At the social afterwards an excellent program was given by the following: Violin solo, Miss Bland; song, Miss Phyllis Elliott; recitation, Mrs. Galbraith; song, Mrs. Ogilvy; song, Mrs. Ogilvy; song, Mrs. Langley. Delicious refreshments were served, and dancing brought to a close a very enjoyable evening.

"Let there be light" is the motto of the Victoria police department this week. Yesterday the city collected $73 to pay for the light that failed, to-day the sum totalled only $25, but five additional motorists became subscribers to the campaign. Parking cars at night without rear lights extracted $5 each from J. W. Harkness, A. R. Parker, E. J. Dentith, Mrs. M. Hickey and Arthur White. Joe Yuen dropped in for $27.50 donation to the city coffers, as he said the court, failed to report an accident and cut a corner slightly. Jack Stevens, cycling without a light, paid $3 to the cause.

R. M. Angus, of Newport Avenue, well-known stamp collector of this city, is the proud possessor of a rare and unusual denomination in stamps from the Soviet Russia issue. A friend traveling through the chaotic country was kind enough to send him the stamps in such a manner as to conceal them and enhance their value. The chief stamp is of 250 roubles value surcharged to the denomination of 100,000 roubles, which when at par value is valued at $50,000. This stamp is probably the rarest of all present day Russian stamps, and Mr. Angus is inclined to believe that they will be of great value some day. The design is the usual pattern of all Soviet stamps, being imperforate with the picture set in a circle frame.

PREMIER MAKES FIRST DRAFT OF REDISTRIBUTION

Premier Oliver has finished the first rough draft of a plan for redistributing the electoral districts of British Columbia. The Premier said to-day that he was not expecting in connection with re-distribution the trouble that has been predicted in some quarters.

MAN DIES ON BOATING CRUISE

Tragedy Terminates Happy Yachting Trip

An inquest on the remains of the late George B. Corbett will be held under provincial police auspices at McCalls Funeral Parlors to-morrow morning. Coroner E. C. Hart will preside.

The late Mr. Corbett, of Montreal, died while in an open launch with Mr. Mason, an officer of the C.P.S., Empress of Russia. The party left Vancouver on the yacht Rowena for a cruise around the Gulf Islands on September 13. Yesterday Mr. Corbett was taken ill and died before the yacht could be berthed to receive medical attention for the ailing man.

Constables Owens and McPhail, of the provincial police, attended to the details as soon as the occurrence was reported.

Alone in the open boat with the body of his dead friend, Mr. Mason hailed a passing tug and secured a tow to Sidney. When medical aid was summoned it was found to be too late.

LAZARETTO ON BENTINCK ISLAND

Move to be Made From D'Arcy Island

Information of the pending transfer of the Lepers Lazaretto under the control of the Federal Government at D'Arcy Island to Bentinck Island, near the William Head Quarantine Station, is conveyed in an announcement from the Department of Public Works at Victoria, says the plans and specifications for the lazaretto have not been received by the department. The change, it is understood, is made so that closer supervision can be kept on the Chinese isolated at the leper station. The number of patients since the station was opened has never reached more than five at one time.

History of Lazaretto Here

Little D'Arcy Island was in use as a leper station from 1892 to 1906, when the city of Victoria erected wooden shacks, housed lepers and provided furniture, food and so forth for the use of the occupants.

Up to 1906 all activities in connection with the care of lepers had been confined to the small island.

In 1906 the Leprosy Act was passed by the Parliament of Canada and the B. C. Government authorized the placing of a reserve on the island by the Dominion Government for the purpose of placing a lazaretto under Federal control and expense. Two concrete cottages were erected to replace the wooden shacks. In January, 1917, the lepers were transferred from the small island to a three-room framed cottage on D'Arcy Island, and since that time little D'Arcy Island has not been used as a leper station.

BIG ENROLMENT AT VICTORIA COLLEGE

Figures Pass 120 Mark, and Steadily Increase; Lectures Begin Tuesday

There is every indication that the enrolment in the classes at the Victoria College in this city will be well up to average this year, according to the latest figures given out from that institution. It is estimated that close to 120 students will attend the sessions through the coming year, and over 120 have already made application. To-day was the day for registering, but new students will be received on the opening day of the first term, Tuesday, September 25. Later arrivals will be received, in all probability, even after the sessions have commenced, providing suitable arrangements can be made for their accommodation.

The sophomore year has so far received over forty applications up to the present time, and the men and women are almost equally divided in the classes. The majority of the students of the Freshman year are of the gentler sex, in both the arts and science courses.

Some noticeable changes have been made in the building this year, in the re-arrangement of lecture-room fixtures. These fittings have been repaired and replaced where such changes were found necessary. Generally, the building is ready for the coming of the classes, and all other arrangements for the opening day are progressing favorably.

CONVENTION DATE SET

Announcement is made that the executive of the B.C. Prohibition Association has decided to hold the annual prohibition convention on November 16 and 17 when a large assembly of delegates from all sections of the Province will be in attendance. Present conditions under the Government Liquor Act will be the chief topic of discussion.

HINDU WAGE FIGHT IN COUNTY COURT

Saanich Dairyman Sued by Punjab Laborer

Budham Singh, Saanich dairyman, and his brother, Hucksam Singh, who appeared in county court recently, when a Saanich resident was charged with attempting to inflict grievous bodily harm on the latter, were again in court this morning when Budham Singh was named as defendant in an action Allie, a Punjab laborer, claimed $400 for wages for work and labor performed between August, 1922, and February 5, 1923, at the rate of $10 a month and board and for goods sold. Half a dozen Hindus followed the proceedings with close interest.

W. C. Moreby appeared for plaintiff and J. S. Brandon for the defendant.

The dispute centred around the fact whether defendant was employed by Budham Singh or Hucksam Singh, both of whom lived together. Mr. Moreby explained to His Honor Judge Lammiman that at previous proceedings Hucksam had interrupted the proceedings so frequently that he had had him put out of the court room. Allie, through an interpreter, gave evidence of working for Budham Singh, receiving only a portion of his wages and selling to Budham a wagon and harness. He received a cheque from Budham Singh made out by a dairyman and also had a poll cheque, a receipt for all the milk he had had him put out of the court room.

Cross-examined, witness said he did not know whose money he had received. He protested ignorance of who did the business of the farm. He did not know if he was milking the cows of Budham or of Hucksam.

DR. ERNEST HALL RETURNS TO CITY

Attended Convention of Dr. Abrams's Disciples in San Francisco

Dr. Ernest Hall returned to this city on the morning boat from Vancouver. In California he had attended a convention of physicians who have endorsed the latest developed system of electronic medicine. The convention was held in San Francisco and was attended by about 120 practitioners, representing a body of some 3,000 medical men who have made a study of the electronic system and are in agreement with Dr. Albert Abrams, its greatest exponent, as to its value in diagnosing future diseases.

Dr. Hall speaks of the founding of the new college of electronic medicine, for which the corner stone has already been laid in San Francisco and which will entail the spending of more than $600,000 in construction. With its prospective endowments for original research he is expected to reach another $1,000,000 in initial expense, he believes.

Dr. Abrams' system of electronic medicine is developing by leaps and bounds, according to Dr. Hall. Surgeons who share the views of Dr. Abrams include Dr. Mathers Thompson, Dr. R. C. London, England, and Sir James Barr, president of the British Medical Association.

One of the latest discoveries of Dr. Abrams is the intermittency of radio emanations. All substances are more or less radioactive. Certain of these Dr. Abrams has shown to emit their energy at regular periods. Cancer, for instance, gives out its impulse every four seconds. Sarcoma, another form of malignancy, emits its energy every six seconds. The principle thus formulated is applied by Dr. Abrams to the diagnosis of disease with complete success, Dr. Hall asserted.

Dr. Hall speaks of Dr. Abrams as an indefatigable worker. Dr. Abrams himself says that he has not yet touched on the fringe of the possibilities in the new branch of science. He continues to look forward, says Dr. Hall, while the majority of men look into the past. "I have met a greater genius than Dr. Abrams, and his own generation fails to appreciate the wealth of truth which he has been the means of revealing," Dr. Hall says.

"Colleges are being established in the large centres of the East to meet the increasing demand for instruction in this department. It is by no means a cure-all, but in the words of Sir James Barr, 'It is a valuable adjunct' to our recognized system," Dr. Hall stated.

ADOPT RESOLUTION ON PROSECUTIONS FOR WRONG LABELLING

As a sequel to the discussion at the executive meeting of the Victoria branch of the Retail Merchants' Association on the question of penalizing retailers for selling articles not adulterated, but resembling certain trade commodities, as in the case of maple syrup compared with maple syrup, the local branch has drawn up the following resolution:

Whereas the present act works an injury and injustice to the Retail Merchants, it is hereby resolved by the Victoria Branch of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada, that this association shall record as being opposed to the system of penalizing retailers for the wrong labelling and packing of foods.

Resolved, that it be resolved further that where the Government finds it necessary to take action on matters of this kind, that the prosecution be initiated against the manufacturer direct and that the retailer or vendor be brought before the Court only as a witness to produce evidence as to whether or not he purchased such goods.

This resolution has been endorsed by the various trade sections.

HUNTER PAINFULLY HURT IN WOODS

Pipe Line Caretaker Shot by Unknown Person

Shot in mistake for a deer and left to shift for himself in the woods, A. E. Saul, a caretaker on the Sooke pipe line, lies now at the Jubilee Hospital with painful injuries. Blinded with the agony of his wounds the unfortunate victim of the accident crawled his way through the dense brush until he reached the roadway. On the road in terrible agony he was later found by a passing car and rushed to the city. Dr. Price, city health officer, was the first to attend his wounds.

Mr. Saul was hunting in the woods near Sooke at 8.30 a.m. this morning when without any warning he received the full charge of a shot gun in his body. He dropped, wounded in the right arm and generally all over the side of the body that had been exposed.

Left to his own devices, Mr. Saul struggled to his feet, and made his way to the roadside, where he was later rescued. Fortunately his wounds, though painful, are not vital. It is believed. The accident was reported to the Provincial Police, and attended to by Constable Robert Owens and other officers, who now seek word of the person or persons who fired the shot.

NOBODY'S LOVER

By RUBY M. AYRES

Ursula looked up at her aunt's faded face and shivered as she went up to her room.

"Poor auntie! I hope I never get married. I think men are awful."

But she took out paper and ink and sat down to write to the man who had opened the gates of the future to her. He must be, of course, the great exception to the whole sex. There had never been anyone as generous as he.

"Though I do not know who you are, I feel that I must write to you," she wrote with eager impulse.

"Because I want you to know how happy you have made me and how much I thank you. I wonder if you are fond of music? And if you will ever come to hear me sing? I wonder if you are young or old, and if I have ever seen you?"

"I mean to work so hard and try and pay you back for all you are going to do for me. Some day I mean to make you proud that it was you who gave me the means to do the great things that I feel sure I shall be able to do. I hope you will not think this is very silly, but it is so difficult to write to anyone when you do not even know their name or . . ."

"Ursula!" Mrs. March called from the stairs.

"Coming!" Ursula dropped her pen and ran to the door.

Mrs. March stood half-way up the stairs, her thin face worried and flushed. "Your uncle has just telephoned that he is coming in to dinner after all and bringing someone with him. There is only the cold mutton and soup, and now we shall have to get extra cooking done!"

"Do you want me to come and help?"

"If you would just make me some pastry."

Ursula turned back to her room. She could not leave that unfinished letter lying about.

"Whom is he bringing?" she asked presently as she ran downstairs.

Mrs. March shook her head. "Somebody fresh! He is always bringing fresh acquaintances home!—men he thinks he can make money out of. Money is all he cares about."

"Somebody old and uninteresting. And he only told me the name—Captain Rattray, I think he said."

Ursula stopped half-way down the stairs.

"Captain Rattray?" she echoed.

"Not really! Why, only the other night Uncle Henry said."

She broke off, with an acute memory of the noisy party at the restaurant and her uncle's disgust.

Mrs. March looked at her niece with tired eyes.

"Do you know this Captain Rattray, Ursula?"

The girl hesitated. "I met somebody of that name at the St. Clara's the other night," she said. "It may be the same man, but it's rather an uncommon name, isn't it?"

In her heart she was sure it must be Jake, though she could not understand how her uncle had met him or for what reason he should be bringing him home.

"I wish he wasn't coming," was the thought in her mind all the time, but she was too happy with the result of her interview with Simpson Jr. to worry much about anything, and she sang as she went up to her room to change her dress.

She had hated living here with her uncle, but now it was all changed. She then thought of her promise to write her letter, and with sudden impulse she sat down and impulsively finished it.

"I have nothing more to say to you except that I hope some day we shall meet, and that you will not be disappointed in me, and until then I am your very happy and grateful protegee—URSULA LORRIMER."

And I've got to make pastry for the horrid creature!" she thought as she went to the kitchen, where the one hard-worked maid, who was the busy cleaning up.

Mr. March always expected everything to be just so when he brought anyone to dinner, though he invariably objected to paying extra for the entertainment.

Ursula thought of the St. Clara's luxurious house and the dinner that had been served for herself and man who would notice the contrast, and though she disliked the idea of meeting him again, she exerted herself to make the pastry as perfect as possible, and afterwards went carefully over both dining and drawing-rooms, rearranging the few ornaments there were and trying to make the early Victorian furniture look as comfortable as possible.

Ursula thought of the St. Clara's luxurious house and the dinner that had been served for herself and man who would notice the contrast, and though she disliked the idea of meeting him again, she exerted herself to make the pastry as perfect as possible, and afterwards went carefully over both dining and drawing-rooms, rearranging the few ornaments there were and trying to make the early Victorian furniture look as comfortable as possible.

"I wish he wasn't coming," was the thought in her mind all the time, but she was too happy with the result of her interview with Simpson Jr. to worry much about anything, and she sang as she went up to her room to change her dress.

She had hated living here with her uncle, but now it was all changed. She then thought of her promise to write her letter, and with sudden impulse she sat down and impulsively finished it.

"I have nothing more to say to you except that I hope some day we shall meet, and that you will not be disappointed in me, and until then I am your very happy and grateful protegee—URSULA LORRIMER."

And I've got to make pastry for the horrid creature!" she thought as she went to the kitchen, where the one hard-worked maid, who was the busy cleaning up.

Mr. March always expected everything to be just so when he brought anyone to dinner, though he invariably objected to paying extra for the entertainment.

AFTER-EATING DISTRESS

And all forms of stomach trouble such as gas pains, acid, sour burning stomach are all relieved in two minutes by taking JO-TO. JO-TO sold by all Druggists. (Adv.)

knows all about the subject under discussion.

"I admit a self-made man," he went on grandiloquently. "I am more or less a self-made man myself; but when I tell you—"

He stopped and looked with annoyance at his wife, who had risen to her feet. "Where are you going, my dear?"

"To see to the dinner, Henry," she answered timidly.

Her husband's face darkened. Though he hated paying for the upkeep of house and servants, he liked to appear to be living in luxury, and he thundered out: "Where are the mounds? Surely they are competent to see to the dinner!"

"Mary cannot do everything, Uncle Henry," Ursula struck in quietly. At times like this she almost hated her uncle.

Mrs. March slipped from the room, and after the barest pause Mr. March went on with his narrative, only bringing it to an abrupt close when he discovered that neither Jake nor Ursula looked in the very slightest degree interested. An offended pause followed, after which he departed from the room in high dudgeon to scold his wife.

Jake looked at Ursula with a faint smile. He felt absurdly guilty, though he knew quite well that she could not possibly know that he had been connected in any way with Simpson, junior.

"You are very surprised to see me here, Miss Lorrimer, I suppose?"

"Surprised!" Ursula raised her brows. "Why should I be surprised? Uncle Henry often brings people in to dinner."

"I thought perhaps you would wonder how we had met."

"I don't think I gave it a thought."

Jake met her eyes squarely. "Why are you so determined not to be friends with me?" he asked.

She felt her color rising. "I am afraid I don't understand what you mean. We have only met once . . ."

"Pardon me, but we have met three times. I think—once when you were dining at Mario's with your uncle, and you so pointedly refused to allow Jake to introduce me; once in a tea-shop in the Brompton-road, when you say you did not see me at all; and once at Miss St. Clara's."

"You have a very good memory," said Ursula. She hardly knew whether to laugh or be offended.

"I have," Jake answered coolly. "And so I should like to ask you again, why you so evidently dislike me?"

"Really, Captain Rattray, isn't all this rather absurd?" Ursula said with an effort. "Why should I dislike you? I hardly know you."

Jake rose to his feet and took Henry March's place, with his back to the mantelpiece. He felt more at an advantage standing.

"You hardly know me, I admit," he answered. "And I hardly know you, but I should like to know you better, Miss Lorrimer, and that is why I came here to-night."

She stared at him in amazement. "I don't understand in the least," she began.

VICTORIA MAN SECRETARY TO BRITISH PARTY

Lord Birkenhead Brings H. G. Leslie as Secretary on Western Tour

H. G. Leslie, for many years a resident of Victoria and well known here, is acting as secretary to Lord Birkenhead and his party on their present western tour. The former British Lord Chancellor will arrive here tomorrow to address the Canadian Club.

Mr. Leslie, who is making all arrangements for Lord Birkenhead's various speaking engagements on his present tour, joined the party in New York, where he has been in business for the last three years. The Victoria man became a close friend of Lord Birkenhead during the war when the latter was Chancellor. On reaching New York Lord Birkenhead immediately asked the young Victorian to act as his secretary while he was traveling in America because of his knowledge of the country.

Mr. Leslie left here early in the war in the Royal Naval Air Force, and later joined the United States Air forces in which he held the rank of captain.

SAANICH HAS NEW COMMUNITY HALL

Building Opened Last Night With Many Residents of Municipality Attending

The official opening of the Lake Hill Community Centre took place last night, with a large number of the residents of the Saanich district attending. W. G. Gaunce, president of the organization, responsible for the formation of the centre, capably occupied the chair. Reeve Watson, of Saanich, George McGregor, ex-reeve of Saanich and Councillors Kirkham and Macneil also were present on the platform.

President Gaunce referred to the splendid spirit which had made the Community Centre a reality, and stated that all those who had helped in its organization he wished to personally thank.

Five minute speeches followed the president's opening remarks, and all those present on the platform spoke. Reeve Watson said that by promoting the welfare of the community in forming this organization of the people of the municipality, they were doing a thing which would benefit all. He stated further that the Saanich Council was pleased to be able to assist in the work, and that they hoped in the near future to build a larger and more comfortable structure, with the aid of the organizers.

The gymnasium, it is hoped, may be used by the girls of the community as well and as frequently as it is used by the boys.

Following the speeches those present joined in a community sing, with R. R. Webb acting as conductor. The piano was kindly loaned by Fletcher Brothers. David Spencer and Scott & Peden were thanked publicly for their generosity in supplying Heaton's Orchestra for the evening.

ADVISE PARENTS TO PROTEST AGAINST ROAD CONDITION

Members of Saanich school board Wednesday expressed disappointment at the apparent intention of the Municipal Council and the Provincial Public Works Department, to abandon the proposal to widen that portion of Admiral's Road which fronts Craigflower School.

The board considered the work essential for the safety of children attending the school, owing to the great automobile traffic. Trustees had gone the limit of their powers by voting $150 for the purchase of the material removed, if placed on adjacent low-lying school lands. The cost has been estimated at about $600.

Trustees considered that, in the interest of the children, parents and residents' concerns should make representations to the various authorities, this work being of a character which is not within the direct control of the school board.

DELAY APPOINTMENT OF SOLDIER ADVISER

Toronto Tardy Nomination Causes Postponement

The delay in the appointment of soldier advocates and sub-advocates to represent ex-service men and dependents before the Federal Appeal Board is due to the delay of Toronto in placing their nominations at Ottawa, G. C. Macneil, Dominion Secretary of the Great War Veterans, advises in a wire from Ottawa.

With a telegram received several weeks ago urging the "Victoria" service organizations to forward their nominations announcement of the appointment has been looked for for some time past and at the rate cases are pouring into the service organizations the sub-advocate appointed will be faced with a tremendous task in preparing his cases for the first sitting of the Board in Victoria.

The wire from Mr. Macneil gives no indication of the probable length of the delay through Toronto's tardiness, and the announcement of the appointment is expected hourly.

INSTITUTE TO MEET IN TRAIL

Mining and Metallurgical Interests to See Smelter

Previously the annual general meetings of the British Columbia division of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy have been held in Vancouver, as the most convenient centre for gatherings of the kind. A departure is being made this year, however, in the decision to hold a general meeting in Trail, with the dual purpose of enabling coast members to acquaint themselves with the important mining and metallurgical developments taking place in the Kootenays, and of indicating to Kootenay members and mining men, the interest of the Institute in their concerns and problems. This meeting will be held on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, October 17 to 19, and a cordial invitation is extended to all mining men, whether they are members or not, to attend.

The programme arrangements are in charge of a committee, under the capable chairmanship of M. E. Purcell, of Roseland, who now announce that a number of papers covering a wide range of subjects of timely interest, will be presented for discussion, including: "A Symposium on the mining and treatment of Sullivan ores," by S. G. Haylock, W. M. Archibald, E. G. Montgomery, R. W. Diamond, E. M. Styles, E. Buchanan, Geo. E. Murray, B. A. Sijm, and J. G. England; "Mining and Smelting Operations at Anyox," by L. R. Clapp; "Recent Mining and Metallurgical Developments in the Britannia," by W. M. Brewer; "The History and Progress of Mining in the Kootenays," by S. S. Fox; "The General Geology and Ore Deposits of the Grand Forks, Greenwood, Osoyoos and Similkameen Mining Divisions," by P. B. Freedland; "Undiscovered Mines of British Columbia," by W. L. Uglow; "Small Scale Mining Operations and their Problems," by A. E. Langley; "The Sulphur Industry," by E. W. Guernsey; and "Publicity and the Mining Industry," by C. M. Campbell.

In addition, visits will be paid to the Trail works, and possibly to the Roseland mines. Nor has the committee forgotten to provide for entertainment of a lighter sort.

WHY SURGEONS HOLD SECTIONAL SESSIONS

Rev. C. B. Mouligner, Who Will Be Here Friday, Explains Situation

Rev. C. B. Mouligner, S.J., Milwaukee, president of the Catholic Hospital Association, who will be here for the medical convention next week, has been closely associated with the hospital standardization programme and better hospital movement for a number of years. Speaking of the sectional meetings, as this one will be, he says:

"The audiences reached at these meetings consist of members of the medical profession, hospital and nursing professions, and the public in general. The number of each is large and practically covers the whole continent, and I believe we reach the most active and leading people concerned in better medicine and better hospital service. The audiences are growing in number and are embracing the whole body of the professions and that portion of the lay public which feels the responsibility for the better care of individual and community health."

"The reasons why this propaganda conducted by the American College of Surgeons is so successful, it seems to me, can be stated in a very few simple words, as follows: The things aimed at are true, are fundamental, are all-embracing, and as a consequence are fair, just and convincing. Hence, not only the Fellows of the American College of Surgeons, but every right-minded medical man, hospital executive and nurse who is endeavoring to practice medicine in the finer spirit of the professions and in keeping abreast with the development of medical science and hospital care of patients, accepts without difficulty the programme of the College."

ELKS HOLD SOCIAL

New Members Initiated to Organization, and Social Evening Enjoyed

Several new members were initiated last night at the regular monthly meeting of the Elks' Lodge in the local clubrooms. Several visiting members were present at the proceedings, one of them from a New York lodge.

Following the general business of the meeting the members took their stations in the lounge room, where a cheery fire blazed. The members gathered about the room in groups and the master of ceremonies, vice-president A. T. Weight, took an active part in the arranging of an entirely impromptu programme of entertainment. Chris. Wade acted as accompanist to the singers during the evening.

The committee in charge of the arrangements for the social gathering was composed of the following members: Brothers A. Peden, A. Weight, A. Hill, W. Webster, J. Gillis, G. Meehan, W. Lorimer and W. Neill.
